Hi all,

I’m an instructor for Juni Learning, an online academy that teaches kids ages 8-18 the fundamentals of computer science, and we’re looking to hire a new class of Juni Instructors for this school year!

Each session is 50 minutes, taught online, and Juni Instructors use the curriculum and teacher portal developed by Juni. Benefits include flexible hours, ability to work from your dorm room, and opportunities for professional development and networking. Instructors work 8-10 hours per week and can earn $20 - 25 per hour based on performance and bonuses.

We’re looking for instructors that have taken at least one introductory-level Computer Science class or equivalent and, most importantly, enjoy working with younger students and building their interest in CS. If you any interest reach out to me at clayton.hebert@yale.edu. Thanks!
