Are you looking to volunteer and gain clinical experience? Yale Undergraduates at Connecticut Hospice (YUCH) is an organization that provides the unique opportunity to support the terminally ill by volunteering at a palliative care facility a short drive away from campus in Branford, CT. Volunteers provide a service that is crucial to the Hospice organization and uplifting to the patients. There are a variety of volunteer departments ranging from patient assistance to art therapy, which all immerse volunteers in the real patient care experience. Yalies from all levels of education and all ranges of healthcare experience have volunteered with us before - we have trained future leaders in medicine who understand both the joy in clinical care and the resilience of the human spirit.
